2014 FOX Financial Executives Forum to Feature Technology Showcase

Event to highlight family office technology, financial reporting and human capital issues

CHICAGO, June 3, 2014 – Family Office Exchange (FOX), a global membership organization of single family offices and their advisors, announces the 2014 FOX Financial Executives Forum will feature a showcase of technology solutions for the family office. The event highlights a series of hands-on demonstrations, including financial systems and investment software.

“Sourcing technology that meets the sophisticated needs of a family office is often a challenge,” says FOX Managing Director Mariann Mihailidis. “This year’s event will give attendees an opportunity to gain hands-on experience with a number of software solutions developed for the family office space.”

The FOX Financial Executives Forum is an annual event highlighting best practices and critical updates for family office executives. This year’s agenda covers issues related to technology, financial reporting and human capital.

Highlights include:

- A panel discussion on how to overcome common financial reporting challenges
- How to select and implement new family office technology
- The latest updates in estate and income tax rules that family office executives need to watch for in 2014 and beyond
- Human capital trends and best practices

“One of the benefits of the forum is it gives family office financial executives a chance to meet with their peers and share ideas,” says FOX Relationship Manager Jo Wellman.

Registration for the 2014 FOX Financial Executives Forum is open to single and multi-family office non-executives. A limited number of seats are available to qualified non-members.
